■ Cover Illustrations Draft

The draft for the front cover. I was aiming to have a somewhat peppy look. It would make me really happy to know if Charl's nice and tender vibes would reach out too.

■ The illustration placed for the main page of the web comic. I intentionally drew her in a modest pose. I always kept in my mind while drawing Charl was to have her inner femininity (one of her charms) to show up in her pose and gestures.

I did my best to draw the transcendingly cute Charl closer to the original light novel and the anime. It would be nice if you have enjoyed this even for a small while.

These drafts are the ones I personnally selected. Actually, I liked the tiger costume on this pamphlet. While Charl is as cute as small animals, you want to see her in different clothes like cosplaying various animals, mascot characters and wear headresses, right?

I'm thinking of how nice it is for me to keep on drawing "Sugar & Honey" after this. Please keep on supporting me for Volume 2!
